DOCKETED BY

Dear Governor Brewer;

Never has there been an easier to assess cause for me to bring to your table. If I am good it is because I love my nation and the people of this state and I am forgiving, willing to give up when the cause is lost and progressively oriented towards jobs of the future that almost everyone cannot begin to perceive. That is the nature of my artistry as heroic portraitist, to record my energy for the treasure of the future by someone who in art circles has astonished my contemporaries with virtuosity of the hardest things in art. Importantly, I was first compared to Christo by my peers in 1975, an international artist who spends his money from sales of drawings to get permission to do his monumental work. I am kept from the occupation of art by the hard facts of enforced poverty. By education I can further define the facts as caused by my own lifelong Traumatic Brain Injury, at once leaving me savant (in art) and never to "work" again. I am the best but exist as future value. My aunt and uncle began Head Start and the ADA itself, lucrative today yet abysmal at their beginnings. I cannot wait for resolve. This is my duty. I am Applegate, we blazed the Oregon Trail.

I am married still for reasons of community property to the first man who ever asked me out. The children are adults and successful but he and I both "PTSD" have fallen to be financially needy, saved by the federal government's SSA. Because I got him on the program, he gives me a whopping $980/mo. to pay my rent. My non-worker's allowance is pitifully little by comparison, enough to pay utilities and insurance. Over the course of decades and for seven documentable years with my City of Phoenix Caseworker, Pam Ball, Sunnyslope, I have exerted every effort to bring the utilities around to compliance with the needs of ALL Social Security recipients, particularly the disabled, to create auto-pay at the first of the month in an evened-out amount. Provably and basically for non-ADA compliance they "just can't."

My husband, Timothy Lee Waterworth at 810 E. Hatcher Rd. #6, across the street from me by purpose of my contacts with him, is going to have his APS services turned off tomorrow. City of Phoenix made a vast payment within the last year to help him. He is unconvinced of many things. He does not forgive, he is angry constantly and determined to be independent when he needs help from doctors, from bankers and from the Corporation Commission. I cannot make him be nice, he abused me out of the marriage in typical terms by 1997 in horrific domestic violence because he was tortured by the workplace, they cut his pay in half and threatened him they would fire him if he didn't keep up production at half the pay. This is the ominous future of the nation in the same or similar worker predicament that I guarantee you can do nothing about, even if you are made aware of it in this third person fashion.

The conditions for the disabled must be changed in the terms of their disabilities, not in the terms of the typical. The Corporation Commission demands a power of attorney that Tim is unwilling to give and I am unwilling to accept. I am not responsible for any of his affairs and so be it. The marriage contract in the first place, because I am Christian Scientist and we don't "marry or bury" is a deal with the IRS, a big federal agency, none of the business of any utility, particularly over a matter of Constitutionality of their (Amendment #8, Top Ten, Bill of Rights) excessive fees and fines, in the case of APS, they charge us to tell us they are going to turn us off, they charge us to turn us off and they charge us double deposits to turn us back on. Since my immediate concern is that they don't turn Tim off tomorrow, let me focus.

There is no ADA specialist at the Corporation Commission. There certainly are many there who can speak Spanish and Spanish is not a disability. Congresswoman Giffords is not going to represent her constituents in the remainder of her term and look at the support services paid for by government to "keep" her for the media freak show. Tim was notified after the first of the month that his service was going to be cut. He came to my house to use the phone four times and finally succeeded in making the contact, temper intact. "The best they could do" was to forestall the cut off until days before his next stipend arrives. That will not do. I called the Corporation Commission and asked first, due to my experience, if they would talk to me without hanging up and the Executive secretary said "No!"

When Tim pays his bill it will mean that I will be short for my rent the amount he pays APS, which is $130. I will handle that because, as I always handled the finances during the marriage, I am savant in surviving poverty as well, experienced in these particulars of alarms and excursions since the day we moved here, April 15, 1986. Next month Tim's bill will be lower, post highest summer heat ever, so continuing, I Trust in the Creator.

You must be made aware of the non-compliance with the ADA that results in gouging of federal monies in the thousands for me alone annually. That I cannot represent for payment arrangements to be reasonable for a man without reason since 1997 to corporate bullies so that they continue in a rampaging cruelty against the weak and un-represented to collect thousands and to turn off services to accrue those "excessive fees and fines" monies when the bills could all be paid with a State of AZ Corporation Commission compliance to employ disability specialists as well as the Spanish speaking to not only remove obstacles to commerce but to preserve the finest law of the finest nation to protect the weakest and I assure you, to prevent soldier suicide of six a day. My cause is not lofty if it is as simple as a respect of the Social Security recipient's date of pay being the predictable same on a done day. It is the villainy of the unregulated utilities to tell us after the date of pay when all of the month's allotment is out and refusal to wait on arrangement till the next comes.

You could; force them to talk to me. I am not a fraud trying to bilk them. I am his legal wife per the IRS, not his property per Jesus. I am the only support services he trusts and I am not willing or able to take on additional tasks beyond my own personal and solitary survival in poverty. I have represented to the Legislators; my District's Linda Gray is chairperson of Human Services and Public Safety and this is both. The utilities are all one when it comes time to gouge the federal systemic money when support services could be systemically designed to route through the VA to telework the ADA support services to disabled troops with all the support services thereafter that the VA provides in federal dollars well spent. The systemic change could be made with the letter from the President that I received in March. Use the models of success, the VA at the PHX Workforce Connection, The VA at the Maricopa County Community Colleges, the ADA "list" for voters at Maricopa County that serves me every County election, the City of Phoenix sidewalks, every one ADA compliant and they are "not allowed to ask" if the caller is disabled. We need ports for the ADA.

It is not fair when the SS recipient with adequate income to pay is notified after the money is spent for the month and arrangements to pay cannot be made until after the next month's stipend arrives. He is not eligible for the annual federal systemic help for many months to come. I want the government of AZ to share not only my despair for him, a meticulous man who saved his company millions of dollars being correct, but I want awareness of what will happen to my economy and his with the addition of 1.) double deposits to turn him back on that were guaranteed months ago by City of PHX, 2.) coming out of my ability to pay my rent to a landlady to whom I am already a full month in arrears and 3.) throwing an SMI from depression of PTSD into a weeping puddle of a man who cannot leave his bed, in the cold, in the dark with no way to keep or prepare food as he was over the last four month period just before I helped him get to Human Services, caseworker Pam Ball, that left him with a five hundred dollar credit, now used. I beg for your vision and influence.

Sen. Gray needs to be impressed with her obligation to represent based on federal law for a savings to the economy of federal dollars that I can count in my case alone in the thousands annually. If the Legislators cut the one Governor's ADA Coordinator before I got my education about my own disabilities, in light of the news of the return of troops home from Iraq, in the way of making a decision that helps the nation by systemic change with the stimulus money offered specifically and directly for empowerment of me, please be aware of the savings to the nation that can prove your political intent & get federal tax money out of a very bad way of abuse by the utilities in AZ. The jobs of the future are created by entrepreneur salesmen of extensive and expensive research and development like me who will never be anybody's employee.

Dear Governor Brewer;

A response or three back from the White House is meaningless unless we can use the money for systemic change in the State. The ninety-nine percent were not winners with good looks, smarts, money, politics and gender but you are. If I get by the readers for you, you may be the hope for the State for the jobs of the future that I can describe, as an academic, taking you from where you are to where you need to be. I have been failed personally but the path of the savant in the disabled world is to be where the imagination succeeds. To perceive what I am is to draw upon the intelligence of the nation, the best of your education and the vision that only you bring to office. I pray that the intake doesn't stifle our efforts, mine as an individual of unique national advantage and yours as executive representative, experienced and open to advantages.

I might have been employed by Fox Feature Animations brought to the State with State-created advantages but they misrepresented before they failed. My job with 1-800Flowers.com might have been saved by similar State interest, but New Mexico won the work at lower rate of pay and no one has hired me since. As an artist compared to internationally known artists all of my life, I languish in artistic obscurity for want of a market, so underbid and stolen from that The American Art tragedy has been retold anew in the terms of my ruin since 1992 in a State that gave me the first impression of being a cathedral without a ceiling. The metaphor waits for my development, if you appreciate the need to "include" the troops home.

For over a decade I have had a vision of a mural on the underpass at Indian School of the freeway now named after our soldier lost, Lori Piestewa, on the way to a great landmark of the VA Hospital. McDowell and Thomas were developed and since I first saw this location for art during the downfall of the PHX Arts Commission over the "Squaw Peak Pots" the idea has evolved for the event of the Centennial of the State, always with my first commitment that this be of the heroes Wallace and Ladmo for the remarkable and still lasting affect of the longest running TV Show in the nation that Wallace quit due to salary dispute. I have had the standards that the philanthropy should first pay for the intellectual property of Wallace and Ladmo, then me for my vision with a trust that the interest would readily be there for the development for the call to artists (including troops) and the funds to finish. MLK's family has established the values again this month for the monument dedicated recently paid the estate first.

I have had ~~ability~~ ~~disabilities~~ ~~page~~ five. The head of the DDD declares I do not warrant the attention of support services because I can dress myself. As I mature with three more disabling conditions of PTSD, Traumatic Brain Injury and degenerative arthritis my lifelong disabilities are getting the better of me. I have had to apply for and be granted food stamps because I had the standards to quit the non-profit where the Developmentally Disabled adults paid me a hundred an hour because the outfit (Arizona Training & Evaluation Center, Inc., AZTEC) that gave me the privilege of the students and the adult diaper changing room for the lessons stole the art and published my work without pay, credit or artistic control.

I protest with no recourse and my art hangs in their lobby to enhance the surrounds where I no longer am allowed to improve the lives that were so dramatically changed with my academics like Annie Sullivan did for Helen Keller. We, the teacher and students are in emotional agony and conditional poverty while they who are "Training" cannot be persuaded to re-evaluate to the benefit of those they serve with State support. The demonstration could be made with materials and the students at a table that the adult Developmentally Disabled do not produce what the savant educator did with them. I want my job back and appreciation from those whose "Inc." is to give jobs to the DD. I very much want the State's proper control over them.

Notably, the State Education system K-12, includes the savant in the spectrum with the MR. So my model for the formerly typical troops to have my art therapy as proven protocol for the federal government's support services at the VA is only amplified by my Christian Science ethics that medicine is not the be-all and end-all when I am denied a waiver as given by the State K-12 by the Health Department for Phoenix Transit, Motor Vehicle Department and worse yet when the utilities are allowed to gouge the federal dollars in my case alone in the thousands for their refusal to design compliant systems to take the bank's advantage for auto-pay at the first of the month in an evened out amount to accommodate "us." All three of them squander your resources and mine from precious tax dollars where you cannot design cuts.

I offer jobs at a hundred an hour for the "three percent workforce" for the troops home with what I have, TBI and PTSD. The federal stimulus money has been available for us, the disabled, for empowerment of me, the disabled savant, yet along with every returning troop and every disabled individual I know we are excluded in a disgraceful discrimination. The resulting enforced poverty for me with my gifts and education and, indeed, soldier suicide can be addressed only by you; the liaisons have been slow and obstructive. The money must be used systemically immediately in a design to put the support services that exist to best advantage and to save the tax dollars.

I wish for a meeting of the minds with you, my representatives need your influence and direction. There are top people in City of Phoenix who have gotten my message. Most State employees refuse to acknowledge and declare they can't help.

Dear Susan:

Thank you for writing. I have heard from many Americans about issues concerning people with disabilities, including learning disabilities. We must ensure all Americans have equal access to opportunities and can live independently without discrimination.

Our lifelong commitment to Americans with disabilities and their families begins with support early in life. It continues by building on the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act -- a crucial law that must be properly funded and enforced -- and by ensuring fair access to employment. The Federal Government will lead by example by implementing policies that increase opportunities for all workers.

My Administration has already begun to fulfill this commitment. We proudly signed the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities to advance the rights of people with disabilities worldwide. To provide the necessary resources here at home, I signed the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, which gives States an additional $12 billion for the education of children with disabilities and more than $500 million for vocational rehabilitation programs. The Recovery Act also provides an additional $140 million to support independent living centers. I launched the "Year of Community Living" to bring agencies together to improve access to housing, community support, and independent living arrangements. In addition, I have asked Federal agencies to develop new plans to increase employment of people with disabilities.

As we seek to level the playing field for Americans with disabilities, we must also reshape attitudes and eliminate stereotypes. This begins with strengthening enforcement of the Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act, increasing enforcement by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and providing for parity in insurance coverage for mental health. For more information, visit www.WhiteHouse.gov/agenda/disabilities and www.DisabilityInfo.gov or call 1-800-FED-INFO.

Together, we can meet the goal of providing the best possible support, empowerment, and opportunities for all Americans. Thank you, again, for writing.

Sincerely,
